

I am a film-maker from the hectic and sprawling metropolis of Los Angeles. The first time I visited Altamurano was in early December of last year, 2017, when I filmed a documentary about the community there for my university class. Like any first timer to Altamurano, I felt overwhelmed by its rural beauty and the sense of peace it provided me. The natural resources were abundant and a stark contrast to a typical day in Los Angeles. It's been almost three months since then but I have been back to Altamurano twice more to continue filming with an eye towards releasing the documentary later this year. After the first documentary series, I feel compelled to give back to the community where I first met them. This is why I decided to pursue my career in film after Altamurano. The community has inspired me to create the best documentaries possible, and given my background in journalism, I think it's an opportunity to tell this story as accurately as possible. My goal is not only to tell this story but also inspire people around the world about how wonderful Altamurano is. I am hoping that through both entertainment and education, I can bring more people to experience the beauty of Altamurano for themselves. 2015 2016 2017 On December 9, 2015, the documentary Altamurano: A Way of Life and Love was first released and then re-released on YouTube on December 12. The first trailer for the film was first released on December 10, 2015 and re-released on YouTube on December 12. The official website for the film features a synopsis of the story as well as background information about what led to its creation and why it is important to film such an important topic. The website also features a plethora of images from the subject matter as well as videos from previous projects created by Ben Macintyre. Files for both Macintyre's other projects can be found online at https://www.dropbox.com/sh/pqe1pfj4ogwv3r2/AAAC+KXS0x4wE5hg\_XbQ0a?dl=0 Additionally, the website features an email address email address for those who would like to be updated on the film or wish to contribute in any manner.

The film was released with a small budget of $500. It has now been viewed more than 10,000 times.

"I am heartbroken that my Altamurano documentary is no longer available on YouTube." - Ben Macintyre, Director "Thank you for taking your time to watch my documentary. I would love your help in getting a theatrical release for this film. The world needs to see the beauty and message of Altamurano." - Ben Macintyre, Director "The response from those who have seen my documentary has been overwhelming. It's been amazing seeing how far the Altamurano community as well as I have come since then. I truly believe that my documentary will continue to inspire those who look at it and hopefully help bring more people to experience the beauty of Altamurano for themselves.
